Who we are

Ca' Rugate is an agricultural business in Veneto which takes its name from the volcanic hill of that name that nestles between the natural geometric forms of this area of the Classical Soave territory in the province of Verona, where most of the vineyards belonging to the Tessari family are to be found. These amount to about 90 hectares divided into the three main denominations: Soave Classico, Valpolicella and Lessini Durello. We have been producing indigenous wines for four generations, between tradition and innovation, wines which tell you about the precious land in which they were born in a simple, natural and sustainable way.

For the perfect gift

Ca' Rugate has come up with this short edition which recreates on paper the summary of a story about quality. Wine, but not exclusively: other products, too; this extraordinary land allows us to produce hand-crafted extra-virgin olive oil and honey, the corollary effects of a complete oenological proposal representative of the region's excellent products. You will find bottles in individual packaging alongside the large formats, cases in cardboard or in wood containing various suggested combinations, selected from the different denominations. There are variations on these themes, expressed through original, unconventional ideas. This is our world, our sentiment and our vision, from the past, into the present and on to the future.

Men and vines both have roots. When they are both in the same soil they meet up, they talk, they live and express themselves together. This is the synthesis of our endeavour.
